“Achieving a society in which men raise children as much as women do is crucial.”

Gloria Steinem, Time Magazine, April 5, 2004

“If there is a divorce in a family I urge a presumption of joint custody of the children.... Part of ending sexism involves eliminating the inhuman practice of awarding a parent ‘visitation’ to his or her own child. Shared parenting is not only fair to men and to children, it is the best option for women.” Karen DeCrow, Esq. Ms. DeCrow is a Family Law Attorney in Syracuse and Past President of the National Chapter of the National Organization for Women.

“...the single most important thing is that men raise infants and little children as much as women do.”

Gloria Steinem, Marin Independent Journal, 1995
